An important logistical component

INTERNATIONAL LOGISTICAL COMPONENT

The Trump Route is a strategic initiative that will enhance Armenia's security and position it as a transit and communications hub for transport links between Europe and Asia. The goal is to enhance regional connectivity, facilitate trade and logistics, and promote a more integrated Eurasian transport system.

KEY ASPECTS

The route will likely include a railway, following the path of the Soviet-era railway, as well as new gas pipelines and power lines, which will be built to the north of the railway.

The project is viewed as a component of broader efforts to secure sustainable peace in the South Caucasus and strengthen regional economic ties, with the potential to bypass Russia and China for certain exports.

Armenia and the United States are working on the structure of a company to oversee the project.

Armenian-Western Connectivity

GLOBAL WESTERN CORRIDOR THROUGH ARMENIA

This flagship project is the development of the North-South communications project, which will allow Armenia to connect Europe with India via trade routes. Armenia, in fact, has long been described as a geographical and cultural crossroads: it serves as a vital link, a European gateway to Asia - providing an alternative route through Iran to India that circumvents the unpredictability and authoritarianism of China.

New trade, energy, communication, and logistics routes will soon develop through Armenia, offering tangible economic benefits and enhancing political relationships across Europe.

CUSTOMS AND LOGISTICS CENTRE IN ARMENIA

This flagship project consists in supporting the construction of a Customs and Logistics Centre (CLC) in the outskirts of Yerevan (Armenia). It is expected to contribute to Armenia's trade facilitation with third countries, including the EU, thereby enhancing the Project's alignment with EU-Armenia cooperation strategic objectives.

INTERNATIONAL COOPERATION IN ARMENIA

The increasing engagement of the EU in the South Caucasus and Central Asia is essential. Armenia has the potential to serve as a bridge between these regions, facilitating not just infrastructure connectivity but also digital, energy, and regulatory interoperability. Additionally, it can align its institutions more closely with the European Union. A strengthened partnership with the EU presents unique opportunities for Armenia to be more deeply and strategically involved in emerging European connectivity initiatives, such as the Global Gateway, which will attract global companies to Armenia.
